MR. CHURCHILL.

MR. CHURCHILL'S FOUR YEAR PLAN FOR BRITAIN

A COMPREHENSIVE picture of Britain's post-war aims was given by Mr. Churchill, British Prime Minister, last night in a broadcast, in which he painted a picture of the brave new world, prefaced, however, with the warning that he could not share the sanguine hopes of those who thought the war will soon be over.

"I can imagine," he said, "that some time next year—but it may well be the year after—we might beat Hitler, by which I mean beat him and his powers of evil into death, dust and ashes."

When this "grand climax" of the war was reached, he said, and while we were still aiding in the defeat of Japan, it was our hope that the United Nations, headed by the British Commonwealth, America and Russia, would immediately confer upon the future world organisation to outlaw war.

He proposed the formation of a Council of Europe, based upon the spirit and foundations of the League of Nations, with a High Court to adjust disputes, and forces, national or international, ready to enforce decisions. He foresaw the later establishment of a Council of Asia to take up the same task in that area.

Turning to the domestic scene, Mr. Churchill said that he was very much attracted to the idea that we should make and proclaim a four-year plan for the period of transition and reconstruction which will follow the downfall of Hitler. This plan would include: "National compulsory insurance for all classes for all purposes, from the cradle to the grave; a new deal for agriculture; promotion of a healthy village life, with all the benefits of modern science and increased production of food in this country; public health services extended, and people must be encouraged by every means to have larger families; education on broader and more liberal lines, with specialised courses; religious freedom, absence of snobbery and equality of opportunity; replanning of our cities and towns; revival of industry; stabilisation of monetary values; extension of State ownership, but side by side with it encouragement of private enterprise.

Mr. Churchill said that the plan, which might well be followed by a second, would cover five or six large measures of a practical character, which must all have been the subject of prolonged, careful, energetic preparation beforehand, and which would fit together into a general scheme.

"When this plan has been shaped," he said, "it will have to be presented to the country, either by a National Government, formally representative, as this one is, of the three parties of the State, or by a National Government comprising the best men in all parties who are willing to serve.

"The peoples," he declared, "have been rendered conscious that they are coming into their inheritance."

EYE ON THE BALL

He began his broadcast by emphasising that, despite a "fairly stiff dose of fever, which but for modern science might have had awkward consequences," he had never for a moment had to relinquish the responsible direction of affairs. Then came his warning against hopes that the war would end quickly, and an appeal "not to take your eye off the ball, even for a moment." He explained that he was dealing with post-war plans to "simplify and mollify political divergencies and enable all our political forces to march forward to the main objectives in unity and, so far as possible, in step."

Thanking the nation for its trust and confidence in him, he continued: "I am absolutely determined not to falsify or mock that confidence by making promises without regard to whether they can be performed or not. At my time of life I have no personal ambitions or future to provide for, and I feel I can truthfully say that I only wish to do my duty by the whole mass of the nation and of the British Empire as long as I am thought to be of any use for that."

Our first and supreme task after the defeat of Hitler must be to transport all the necessary additional forces and appetites to the other side of the world to "punish the greedy, cruel Empire of Japan. Nothing must lure us from that task. There will certainly be large numbers of men, not only abroad, but at home, who will have to be brought back to their families and to their jobs or to other equally good jobs. For all these, after full provision has been made for the garrisoning of the guilty countries, return to something like home and freedom will be their heart's desire. However vigorously the war against Japan is prosecuted, there will certainly be a partial demobilisation, and this will raise most difficult and intricate problems, and we are taking care in our arrangements to avoid the mistakes which were so freely committed last time.

GROUPING OF STATES

Speaking of the Council of Europe, Mr. Churchill said: "We must hope and pray that the unity of the three leading victorious Powers will be worthy of their supreme responsibility, and that they will think, not only of their own welfare, but of the welfare and future of all." The Councils of Europe and Asia would arise from "a world institution, embodying or representing the United Nations, and, some day, all nations. All the main branches of the European family must some day be partners in the European Council, and he commended to the smaller nations patient study of a plan of groupings of States or Confederations, which would express themselves through their chosen representatives.

"All this will, I believe, be found to harmonise with the high, permanent interests of Britain, the United States and Russia. It certainly cannot be accomplished without their cordial and concerted agreement and participation. Thus, and thus only, will the glory of Europe rise again." Many tentative discussions, he said, were taking place between the great nations concerned.

Mr. Churchill said that an election would take place following the defeat of Hitler, in which the armed forces, "wherever they may be," would participate.

NO IDLERS

Developing his views on the four-year plan, he said:—"You must rank me, and colleagues, as strong partisans of national compulsory insurance for all classes, for all purposes, from the cradle to the grave. Unemployables, rich and poor, will have to be toned up. We cannot afford to have idle people. Idlers at the top make idlers at the bottom.

"If the expansion and improvement of British agriculture is to be maintained, as it must be maintained, and a reasonable level of prices is to be maintained there are likely to be substantial charges which the State must be prepared to shoulder.

"If this country is to keep its high place in the leadership of the world and to survive as a great Power that can hold its own against external pressures, our people must be encouraged by every means to have larger families. For this reason well thought out plans for helping parents to contribute this life-spring to the community are of prime importance. Planning is vigorously proceeding.

"We must beware of trying to build a society in which nobody counts for anything except the politician or an official — a society where enterprise gains no reward and thrift no privileges. It is in our power to secure equal opportunities for all.

PLACE OF RELIGION

"Religion has been a rock in the life and character of the British people, on which they have built their hopes and cast their cares. This fundamental element must never be taken from our schools, and I rejoice to learn of the enormous progress that is being made among all religious bodies in freeing themselves from sectarian jealousies and feuds, while preserving fervently the tenets of their own faith.

"We must make plans for par-

"EIGHTH ARMY ON THE MOVE"

The Eighth Army is on the move again, and General Montgomery has sent a message to Mr. Churchill, saying that he is satisfied with their progress.

This news was given by Mr. Churchill at the end of his broadcast.

It was a last-minute interpolation not contained in his manuscript.

SCIENTISTS' POST-WAR PREDICTIONS

Many new scientific ideas for the post-war world were suggested at the British Association Conference on "Science and the Citizen" in London yesterday.

Television in every home, and a new type of cinema were possibilities put forward by Sir Allen Powell and Sir Ernest Watson. Other plans foreshadowed were:—

A bigger than ever B.B.C. with a world link-up for international discussion.

A world's science bureau for London.

A news-by-telephone era.

Mr. H. G. Wells forsees the latter development. He declared: "The newspaper is as 'dead as mutton,' and will never come back." Mr. Wells also advocated the burning and repulping of text books, and their constant revision and replacement. "Bound books—that article of furniture—will likely disappear altogether," he said, and added: "We are entering the period of pamphlets, and these will do the work newspapers have failed to do—ventilate ideas and provide material for discussion."

Professor J. B. S. Haldane said the British Association should take up the question of astrology and patent medicine advertisement and patent food scandals. Sir Allen Powell said with regard to the post-war cinema that the new generation would desire more actuality—real things and live people—and more commentary on events.

The Late Cardinal

The remains of Cardinal Hinsley will be taken to Westminster Cathedral this evening after a road journey to London from the Cardinal's country home at Buntingford (Herts). Monsignor Spellman, Archbishop of New York, will participate in the Solemn Pontifical High Mass at the funeral to-morrow. To-night the solemn dirge will begin at 6 o'clock, and may last an hour. After 11 o'clock Mass to-morrow the panegyric will be preached by the Archbishop of Liverpool. Cardinal Hinsley will be buried in the Chapel of the Cathedral.

Cardinal MacRory has received from Right Rev. Dr. Myers, Senior Auxiliary Bishop of the late Cardinal Hinsley, the following telegram: "The Provost and Chapter of Westminster thank Your Eminence for your kind message of sympathy and for your prayers.—(Signed), Edward Myers."

Americans Take Town of Sened

ALLIED troops last night were within fifty miles of Marshal Rommel's vital coastal road and railway in Southern Tunisia—his vital supply route for the Mareth line—according to Reuter's Special Correspondent at Allied Headquarters, North Africa.

The station and town of Sened, on the branch line from the coast, fell to American armoured units at 7 a.m. yesterday, after only light resistance. Advance elements are now pushing on towards Maknassy, about 30 miles from the coast.

Simultaneously with the drive from Sened station, United States infantry are advancing along the Gabes road from El Guettar. How far the Germans will go back before they make their inevitable stand remains to be seen, but Marshal Rommel cannot afford to delay much longer.

General Montgomery's reply to the recent Order of the Day by General Eisenhower has just been released. General Montgomery said:—We all look forward to joining up with the U.S.A. forces very shortly, and after that we will finish off the business very quickly between us.

The American push towards Maknassy began at dawn on Saturday. The Americans successfully attacked the Axis position south-west of the Djebel Goussa, about three miles north-west of Sened Station, and at once consolidated themselves on the high ground commanding the road leading towards Sened Station. No details are yet available regarding the prisoners taken.

On the Northern front the First Army is still pinned down by bad ground conditions, which are likely to last several days. The Germans are shelling the Tabarka-Beja road, near Djebel Abiod, the important road junction where the Tabarka-Mateur road links up with the road from Beja. Apart from the shelling and patrol activity on both sides, the situation in the Djebel Abiod sector in the past twenty-four hours has been static.

8TH ARMY MOVE

The German News Agency said last night that in Central and South-Eastern Tunisia, part of the 8th British Army and some forces of the 1st American Tank Division yesterday evening "started a movement" which can be interpreted as a fairly large-scale attempt to unhinge the firm positions of Marshal Rommel's forces.

Later the German News Agency said that, according to reports so far received, the "covering forces of the Axis have not yet come into contact with these formations."

GERMANS ADMIT GAFSA

Yesterday's German communiqué stated:—"The town of Gafsa, which had temporarily been occupied by our mobile protective troops, was evacuated according to plan a few days ago in the course of our operations."

Berlin claimed last night that the Axis group in Northern Tunisia on Saturday pushed on in a westerly and south-westerly direction, and, leaving Cape Negro far behind, "is now in complete possession of Tizuara Pass sector. In yesterday's fighting," it added, "prisoners were increased to a total now of more than 2,000."

Berlin added that the Axis forces "surprised and overpowered" a British supply column with 60 fully laden vehicles. Supply conditions for the First British Army were rendered more difficult by the capture of important highways near Djebel Abiod and west of it, and supplies from Tunisian ports near to the front "can no longer be considered a practical proposition."—(Reuter.)

TWENTY-ONE ESCAPE FROM DERRY JAIL

TWENTY-ONE internees escaped from Derry Prison on Saturday.

The internees made a tunnel underneath the prison wall into the backyard of an adjoining house. They clambered into a furniture van, which was waiting outside the house, and dashed to the Border, four miles away.

Yesterday it was learned that arrangements had been made for the escape of at least eighty prisoners altogether. When the first batch made their way into the tunnel, however, there was such an air of tension amongst the rest that a warder became suspicious, and, watching the movements of the other prisoners, discovered the tunnel.

It was pointed out in Dublin yesterday that the prisoners were interned by the Northern Ireland Government under the Special Powers Act, because of designs against the political integrity of the State of Northern Ireland. Sir Charles Wickham, Inspector-General of the Royal Ulster Constabulary, visited the jail on Saturday night to conduct an unofficial inquiry into the escapes.

BAGPIPE MUSIC

Warders in the prison, hearing the almost continuous music from bagpipes played, little realised that the music was designed to blot out the sounds of internees burrowing a tunnel underneath the fifty feet high wall surrounding the jail. The foundation is fourteen feet deep, and by using improvised tools the internees tunnelled this depth before burrowing horizontally another 30 feet and then coming up into the backyard of a near-by house. Several tons of earth were excavated, and the men disposed of it by putting it in their pockets and scattering it around the extensive prison grounds.

The escape is believed to have been planned by seven men, but as "zero" hour approached more men were let into the secret, it being thought that eighty should be able to get away.

The bid for freedom took place after breakfast on Saturday morning, when 250 prisoners were walking about the grounds. Mr. Joseph Logue, shipping manager, and his daughter, Miss Molly Logue, were just sitting down to breakfast, when two men appeared in their backyard, having come through the improvised tunnel. One ran into the house and passed towards the front door. Others followed.

The internees raced along Harding street, turned down a flight of twenty steps to Abercorn place, where a large Belfast-owned furniture van was waiting. This van had been brought from Belfast on a bogus order, and it is alleged that the driver was trussed up and thrown into the back and put under sheets. Entering the van, the twenty-one men drove into Eire, ignoring as they went the challenges of British and Eire Customs officers on the border.

TOOK TO HILLS

By this time the alarm had been given in the prison, and police went in pursuit. Knowing that they were being followed, the internees, once over the border, got out of the van and took themselves to the hills around St. Johnston.

There are conflicting reports as to the direction in which the other men escaped. Donegal workers returning home for the week-end from Derry were questioned by police patrols. A new batch of internees, numbering about twenty, had been brought to Derry Prison from Belfast two days before, bringing the total number of internees at Derry to about three hundred.

Our Derry Correspondent, telephoning last night, said that a cat-call, repeated a number of times and heard by several residents in Harding street, was the men's signal that all was ready and that they were coming out in the morning.

On Christmas Day, 1939, internees revolted, set fire to their cells, and created a state of siege for several hours, until Derry Fire Brigade was called in and hosed out the prisoners. In 1921 the late Mr. Frank Carty, T.D., escaped from the prison by means of a rope ladder over a wall. On another occasion, in the same year, a chloroform attack was made on a member of the prison guard, who afterwards died.

Workers from Eire in North

Mr. Edward Warnock (Unionist, St. Ann's) is to ask the Minister of Labour in the Northern Ireland House of Commons this week whether he can state the number of men and women from Eire who have been placed in employment in Northern Ireland by the Minister since the outbreak of war. He will ask also whether the Minister can state how many men who have come from Eire for work in Northern Ireland are in receipt of sustenance allowances of 24s. a week, in addition to their wages.

Lieut.-Col. Gordon (Unionist, East Down) will ask the Minister of Home Affairs whether he can state the number of men and women from Eire to have applied for permits to reside more than six months in Northern Ireland and the number of permits that have been issued.

Russians Abandon Byelgorod

AFTER heavy fighting on the Donetz line during the week-end, the Russians were obliged to give up further ground. The Germans are exerting tremendous pressure near Chuguyev, 20 miles south-east of Kharkov, and in the sector further north towards Byelgorod. Berlin claimed the capture of Chuguyev on Saturday, but so far Moscow has not confirmed the claim.

German attacks, supported by heavy tank and air concentrations, are striking at numerous points in an effort to find a weak spot in the Russian defences, says Reuter's special correspondent in Moscow. At one point the Russians were forced to retreat, though only after destroying 14 tanks and wiping out about a battalion of Germans. In the centre and north, the Russian offensives show no signs of slackening.

In one sector on Saturday the Germans launched nine counter-attacks, helped by groups of bombers 15 to 20 strong. Further north, Marshal Timoshenko's long-range guns are preparing the way for new infantry advances south and north of Lake Ilmen. Vichy radio said last night that Marshal Timoshenko has launched a new offensive in the Leningrad area.

MIDNIGHT REPORT

The Soviet midnight communiqué stated:—

"After violent engagements, by order of the Command our troops evacuated the town of Byelgorod."

The supplement states:—

"South-west of Kholm-Zhirkovsky units of the 'N6' formation captured several inhabited localities. In fighting for one of these about two German infantry companies were annihilated."

"On the morning of March 19th, north of Zhizdra, the enemy attacked our positions after artillery preparation. The Germans flung in large infantry, tank, and air forces. Fierce fighting broke out at the approaches to the Soviet defences. On the very first day the Eleventh Motorised Infantry Regiment of the Ninth German Tank Division was routed. Other enemy units also sustained heavy losses. On the next day the Germans renewed their attack, but without success. Our troops are firmly holding their positions, and are wearing down the enemy man-power and material.

"According to incomplete data, the Germans lost 2,000 officers and men in killed alone in two days' fighting. Several dozen German tanks were damaged or burnt, 27 guns and 70 machine guns were destroyed. Fighting in this sector continues.

"In the Chuguyev area our troops fought violent defensive engagements with enemy tanks and motorised infantry. Within the last few days the Germans sustained heavy losses in men and material. The enemy is hurriedly bringing up fresh forces and hurling them into action straight from the march.

"In violent engagements our troops captured 15 inhabited localities, including the district centre of Petrovskoye, which the Germans has transformed into a heavily fortified centre of resistance."

GERMAN REPORT

Yesterday's German communiqué says:—

"While in the Kharkov-Byelgorod area our troops on a wide front have reached the upper Donetz, further north, in the area of Sevsk, the last remaining gap was closed, and a firm communication with the Orel sector was established.

"On the whole Eastern front the enemy yesterday only attacked south-west of Vyazma, north of Lake Ilmen and south of Lake Ladoga. His attacks failed everywhere. The Soviet suffered fresh heavy casualties

British Advance in Burma

Reuter's Special Correspondent telegraphing from the Burma front yesterday stated:—

British troops are making progress in their advance on the enemy port of Akyab, but the situation north of Rathedaung remains critical. If ships could have been spared from other theatres for the capture of Akyab, Japanese supplies to the Mayu Peninsula would have been cut and this area taken easily. As it is, we have been confined to a slow advance, building roads as we go. On the other hand, the enemy has had quick communication from Akyab by using inland waterways and the road between Akyab and Rathedaung. They possess a large number of launches captured in Burma, supplemented by new armoured launches made in Japan's naval dockyards.

The India joint war communiqué stated that no important change has taken place in Arakan, and that the R.A.F. maintained fighter patrols over areas between Buthidaung and Rathedaung, but no enemy aircraft were encountered.

A simultaneous medium and low-level bombing attack was made on the Japanese-occupied village of Thaungdara, about five miles north of Rathedaung.

SUPPLY THREATENED

Associated Press Correspondent with the British Forces in Burma cabled yesterday: The situation on the eastern side of the southern tip of the Mayu Peninsula is serious. Further Japanese infiltrations have swept into the hills which split the peninsula. They have outflanked the British-held village of Htizwe, which is now in a precarious position, and are threatening to cut the supply lines of the British troops on the western bank of the Mayu River.

Could Eire Have Beveridge Scheme?

Smug complacency and preoccupation by those in authority with relatively unimportant matters were condemned by the Rev. R. J. Kerr, Rector of St. Michan's, Dublin, when he gave the first of a series of Lenten sermons in Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, yesterday.

Mr. Kerr, who was speaking on the Churches' message for a better order of society, said that the Beveridge scheme was a great stride forward. The chief reason for his doubts that such an extensive scheme could be adopted in this country was the complacency in high places, where it was denied that there was hunger in the country, in spite of statements of charitable organisations like the St. Vincent de Paul and observations by members of the medical profession. "This lack of understanding," he said, "is the explanation of the smug complacency and the intense preoccupation with relatively unimportant matters. We shall be told the country could not afford it, but to my mind that is nonsense, when the State is spending on the Army over £7,000,000 a year more than in pre-war years. If the State considers a certain expenditure necessary the money will be forthcoming."

Twelve Arrests Near Border

Eleven men were arrested yesterday by police and military around the St. Johnston area, a few miles from the Derry border. They are detained at Rockhill Military Barracks, and it is understood they will be removed to Dublin to-day.

Late last night another man was arrested by an R.U.C. patrol on the road between Londonderry and the border, and was brought to Londonderry Jail.

"History Will Tell Danger of Last Winter" —Herr Hitler

HERR HITLER spoke in Berlin yesterday, and it was one of the shortest speeches he has yet made. He said that international Jewry had forced upon them a pitiless and merciless war, but at the end it would not be National Socialism or Fascism that would perish; it would be a certain world empire that will fall apart.

Herr Hitler began by explaining that the postponement of the "Heroes' Day" ceremony was because "I felt that I could not until to-day leave with a clear conscience the place where I was detained by my work. Thanks, however, to the sacrifice of our soldiers, we have at length succeeded in finally overcoming the crisis into which the German armies were thrown by an undeserved fate. We have stabilised the front and have taken steps to ensure that in the months to come we shall achieve the successes necessary for final victory. I now deem it permissible to raise the suspension on all leave in the German Army—a suspension which has been in operation for many months past. We can now to an increasing extent make it possible for our brave men to rejoin their loved ones.

"If any of our people had still been in doubt as to the full seriousness of this gigantic struggle on land, sea and in the air—this matter of life or death—then the winter which lies behind us would remove their last doubts. Later historians will tell how great was the danger during this past winter, that the oldest cultural continent of the world might be completely overrun. That this danger has been averted is thanks to the soldiers to whom to-day is dedicated.

JEWRY BLAMED

"A glance at the vast preparations which the Bolsheviks had made to destroy our world reveals grimly what would have happened to Germany and the rest of the Continent if ten years ago the Nazi movement had not come into power, determined to reconstruct the German fighting machine. The Germany of Weimar would have been swept away before the Asiatic assault like chaff before a hurricane. Pitiless and merciless war has been forced upon us by international Jewry.

"Against this, idle chatter about an Atlantic Charter has as little weight as Wilson's fourteen points once had in affecting the real development of the Versailles dictate. Just as in parliamentarian democratic England the warmonger Churchill in 1936 showed the way for future developments with his statement that Germany must once again be destroyed, so now the propagators of the present peace aims in these same democracies reveal the kind of Europe they want after the war. Their aims are identical with those of their Bolshevik allies. These aims are the elimination of all Continental peoples conscious of their national feelings, and, in particular, the German people.

A PROPHECY

"I repeat the prophecy I have already made—at the end of this war it will not be Germany or her Allies who will fall prey to Bolshevism. It will be those countries and peoples, who are more and more submitting to Jewry, that will one day collapse and die of the Bolshevist poison—a poison to which they are sensitive because of their social system. It will not be National Socialism nor Fascism which will perish as a result of this war—it will be a certain world empire that will fall apart. The sins of this empire against their own kith and kin will be transformed into universal misery in these very countries.

"This winter has not brought a feeling of defeatism among the German people. It evoked a gigantic mobilisation of their strength. This mobilisation is still in progress. Armament production is still on the increase.

THE FUTURE

"The German armed forces have been transformed into a nation in arms. National Socialism gave no thought to compromise when it defeated its internal enemies. It will also overcome its enemies abroad. The more decisive and uncompromising the victory, the longer will the peace last and the longer will our continent have time to heal its wounds. The future will be decided not by those who drove their people into war, but by statesmen who, despite limited resources, managed to lead their people to great achievements. The future will be neither Jewish-Bolshevist nor Jewish-Capitalist. It will be a nationalist future.

"When this war is over German National Socialism will go on with its programme; it will go on until class differences have been eliminated for ever and a real national community has been established. Our 542,000 dead will then not have died in vain but will have been the pioneers of a better future.

"May the Almighty, who has thus far in our trials not denied us His blessing, continue to give us strength in the future. We pay homage more to our dead comrades, to their mourning relatives, to the men, women and children murdered in our homeland, and to all the fallen of our allies."

Herr Hitler arrived at the Zeughaus—a building in the Unter den Linden, which now houses a war museum — accompanied by Marshal Goering and his bodyguard, the radio said. The audience included members of Herr Hitler's Waffen S.S. and 300 war wounded. Officers present included Field-Marshal Keitel and Admiral Doenitz, and also Field-Marshal Bock, former Commander in Southern Russia, and General Halder. Herr Hitler's announcement that what he termed the "crisis" had been overcome on the Eastern front, and the resumption of Army leave are seen by Reuter's Military Correspondent as confirmation for the impression that the German winter-action has come to a halt for the time being.

Civic Guards in Cork on Saturday arrested a number of men, including one of those who escaped from Mountjoy Jail some months ago.

HERR HITLER.

GENERAL ELECTION PROBLEMS

DR. J. RYAN, Minister for Agriculture, speaking at Portlaoighise, yesterday, said the general election was going to be held before the end of June.

Mr. Sean Lemass, Minister for Supplies, speaking at Cork, also referred to the coming general election, which, he said, would probably be the most important any of those present had experienced, and very likely the whole history of the country; its political, economic and social progress would be determined. Fianna Fail, he proceeded, had achieved almost its full stated political, social and economic objectives. Neutrality was an agreed policy, he said, but what should be taken into account was the competence of other party leaders, so to direct national affairs as to ensure it could be maintained. Dealing with the Beveridge Plan for administration of social services in Britain, he said many of these changes were already operating in this country. Referring to the efforts of the Government to control prices and keep down inflation, Mr. Lemass said that apart from actual invasion the greatest danger confronting the country was that of inflation. Experience in other countries proved that when inflation took place the workers were the greatest sufferers. Mr. Lemass declared that the Labour Party had failed to put forward any long term policy to protect the interest of the workers during the emergency.

With regard to the serious situation which would arise after the war, when workers returned from Britain, he said they should endeavour to provide now by planning sufficient works which could be undertaken with the implements and material available.

Independence Claim

Having stated that after the war there would be some settling up among the nations, whichever side won, Dr. Ryan said that "it should be possible for us to get what our ideal has been for many years, a fully united, independent country." There was no man more likely to get what we wanted at the end of the war than Mr. de Valera.

While admitting that Fine Gael and the Labour Party were as good on the question of neutrality as Fianna Fail, it was easy to see, he said, who was the statesman among them who had foresight to put things in proper perspective and maintain the neutral position of the country when the time came.

Still at Large

Michael O'Driscoll, the twenty-two-year-old Cork man who escaped from Portlaoighise Prison last Friday morning, has not yet been recaptured, despite the efforts of Guards and military.

A British Admiralty communiqué last night states:—The Board of Admiralty regret to announce that the destroyer H.M.S. Lightning (Commander H. G. Walters, D.S.C., R.N.) has been lost. The next-of-kin of casualties have been informed.—P.A.

CORK UNITED CHAMPIONS

CORK UNITED are champions of the Football League of Ireland for the third successive season, a record the nearest approach to which was Shamrock Rovers' successes in the seasons 1937-38 and 1938-39. Cork lost a point to Shelbourne on Saturday, but Dundalk's failure to capture both points at Crumlin yesterday left the Southern team undisputed champions.

EXCITEMENT AT CRUMLIN

ST. JAMES'S GATE 1 DUNDALK..... 1

The match at the Iveagh ground yesterday ended in a scene of wild confusion. With but one minute to go, and with St. James's Gate persistently attacking, it looked reasonable odds on a test match between Cork and Dundalk, who then were leading by a simple goal, scored in a scramble by McArdle after 17 minutes' play in the first half.

The excitement became intense when St. James's Gate were awarded a free kick close in on the right. The Dundalk goal was packed; even Noonan, the Gate's left full, rushed down to take a share in it. Rogers lobbed the ball to the far corner, and after a furious battle it was seen going to the back of the net. The referee pointed to the centre; the Gate players were all over each other; Dundalk protested; but Mr. Blair remained unmoved, and eventually the ball was kicked off.

Who scored the equalising goal? There were conflicting opinions; Matier claimed a foul. Noonan contended that he put the ball over the line. Joe O'Reilly was of a different opinion, but Mr. Blair settled the argument when he informed an Irish Times reporter that Leathem, the Dundalk centre half-back, scored against his side, and that he also obstructed Matier.

It was a vigorous game all through, with Dundalk playing the better football; but had Matthews availed himself of two exceptional chances after Dundalk scored, the home team would have been one up instead of one down at the interval. The passing and the shooting of the Gate forwards was extremely erratic, and seldom did they support their centre, Flanagan. One of the features was a great head-out from the goal-line by Noonan when, with Murtagh out, all seemed lost. Dundalk had their chance in the first half, but in the second period most of the real attacking was done by the Gate. There was another big thrill after the equalising goal when Murtagh saved a great shot from Grice.

DRUMCONDRA HALTED

DRUMCONDRA... 2 BOHEMIANS... 4

After a keen and exciting struggle, Bohemians beat Drumcondra by 4 goals to 2 at Tolka Park yesterday. It was a well-deserved win, for Bohemians should have had a bigger lead than 2-1 at the interval.

The whole Bohemians team played with fine dash and spirit, and the O'Flanagan brothers supplied the finishing touches with well-placed shots.

M. O'Flanagan and K. O'Flanagan got a goal each after twenty-five minutes and thirty-five minutes, respectively, with very clever shots, but five minutes from the interval Dyer sent in a great shot from a free twenty yards out. Neat combination between the O'Flanagan brothers enabled Kevin to get Bohemians' third after twenty minutes in the second half, but McGrane then scored for Drumcondra, and the crossbar was hit twice subsequently before M. O'Flanagan got Bohemians' fourth.

O'LEARY GETS THREE

LIMERICK..... 5 BRIDEVILLE..... 1

Although Limerick had a fairly easy win over Brideville at Limerick yesterday, their display was not impressive. They were considerably better than Brideville in the first half, which they terminated with a comfortable three goals' lead; but both teams played loose football, and provided very few thrills.

Brideville had a fairly good spell of attacking in the early stages of the second half, but, except for a success by Shields, all other efforts failed to beat a sound home defence.

Limerick's first goal came after ten minutes, when M. O'Mahony scored with a grand first-time shot. Immediately after O'Leary finished a shot from Cronin, and Walsh got the third after 35 minutes. After Shields had scored for Brideville, O'Leary got two more for Limerick.

ROVERS WIN

BRAY..... 1 SHAMROCK R.... 2

Bray Unknowns lost their last "home" match of the season yesterday when Shamrock Rovers beat them by 2-1. The winners were much below full strength, but the substitutes did well enough to give their team at least 75 per cent. of the play.

Despite their superiority, Rovers might easily have dropped a point, for their second goal, which came five minutes from the end, should have been saved by Collins. The Bray goalkeeper also appeared to be at fault when Rovers got their first score. Apart from these lapses, he was one of the best home defenders. Dalton and Murphy also played well.

Carroll scored for Rovers after thirty-five minutes, O'Carroll equalised twenty-five minutes after the interval, and Carroll got the deciding goal with a simple ground shot.

CORK HELD

SHELBOURNE... 1 CORK UNITED.. 1

Cork were lucky to secure a point at Shelbourne Park on Saturday. They played superior class football, but having had three-fourths of the play in the opening half, they were unlucky in their favour they had nothing to boast of when they crossed over with a lead of a goal, which Daly should have saved. The goalkeeper got to the ball, but was forced by O'Reilly to drop it, and in it went from the foot of the United's right-wing eight minutes from the interval.

But if the champions' forwards were in a moody frame of mind in the first half their weakness was even more pronounced in the second, when Shelbourne's front liners did everything with them except score goals. Kennedy missed one golden chance, and it was not until after half an hour's play in the second half that Mullally equalised.

POINT VICTORY FOR ULSTER COLLEGES

By PAT'O.

ULSTER ..... 1-6 MUNSTER ... 1-5

Before a big crowd at Croke Park yesterday Ulster Colleges qualified for the football final. Munster opened well with points by Lyne and Ryan, but Ulster went ahead with points from Boyle, O'Reilly and Shaffrey. Twomey goaled for Munster, who led 1-2 to 0-3 at half-time.

Ulster played far better in the second half. After Daly had put Munster a goal clear, O'Reilly goaled from 30 yards out, and Boyle and Hanratty put Ulster two points in front. Twomey narrowed the margin near the end, and Munster attacked strongly, but the Ulster backs, Canning and Cullen, held their posts clear in a fast finish.

Other results:—Declared Players 4-8, Dublin 2-4, St. Agnes 0-7, Veterinary College 1-2; U.C.D. 6-4, Faughs 5-1; Military College (Kildare) 2-4, Sean McDermotts 1-2.

U.C.D. and Monkstown In Rugby Semi-Finals

U.C.D., who will meet the winners of the St. Mary's v. Trinity match, and Monkstown, whose opponents will be either Old Belvedere or Clontarf, reached the semi-final stage of the Leinster Senior Cup on Saturday. In both games the standard of play was very poor, and there were few occasions for excitement.

U.C.D. 6 BECTIVE 3

Although only three points in arrears for most of the game, Bective Rangers seldom looked like getting on terms with U.C.D., and were beaten by a penalty goal and a try to a penalty goal. Bective were without J. D. O'Connor and D. O'Driscoll, and the College were handicapped by the inability of A. McElhinny to turn out at stand-off.

The Bective forwards, from whom much was expected, proved singularly lifeless, and, without producing anything like the same dash as against Blackrock, the College forwards were much quicker on man and ball in the loose, and were nearly always masters of the situation. With their line-out in the hip field in the backs had very few chances, and never seemed capable of using them.

Very few did all the attacking in the first twenty minutes, and only a few points up after fifteen minutes' play. Lyons got a try, after B. Flanagan had partly broken through and sent out a long pass, and K. O'Flanagan, with a great kick from nearly half way, landed a penalty goal. Bective had their one good spell after twenty-five minutes, Guiney and O'Rourke in turn being held up on the line. Greene raised the lead with a penalty goal, and this ended the scoring.

MONKSTOWN... 8 PALMERSTON ... 0

Allowing for very quick marking and keen tackling, neither the Monkstown nor Palmerston fifteen ever appeared to have sufficient speed or guile to get anywhere in attack, and the handling was dreadfully bad. With the wind in the first half, Palmerston did most of the attacking, without ever looking really dangerous. In the second the boot was very much on the other foot, and towards the end Monkstown got definitely on top, and they well deserved their success by a goal and a penalty goal to nothing.

This is the first time they have won a match in the Cup for a great many years, and it was a fitting reward to their keenness throughout the season, which has brought about improvement.

A final attack from the end Bergin placed a penalty goal, and shortly afterwards, Mooney intercepted and went right through, to score near the posts, Bergin adding the extra points.

Ulster Matches.—North 11, Civil Service 11; Instonians 17, R.B.A.I. 6; Collegians 6, N.F.S. 3; Queen's 19, Bangor 6.

Prince Regent Beaten

THE defeat of Prince Regent by Heirdom at Leopardstown on Saturday was the sensation of the day, but Mr. Rank's horse was by no means disgraced, as he was conceding 3st. to Heirdom, a very consistent horse, who has either won or been placed in twelve races since the beginning of last season. As well, it was a desperately near thing —only a head divided the pair—and in another stride Prince Regent, probably would have won a race run in the remarkably fast time of 6 mins. 12 4-5 secs. — a record for the Leopardstown course. It was a chance ride for Jerry Fitzgerald on the winner, the stable jockey, J. P. Maguire, having been injured through the fall of Sweet Eileen in the Dalkey Hurdle race run previously.

H. M. Hartigan followed up his success in the first two years old race of the season by saddling Davari, to win the Carrickmines T.Y.O. Plate by a short head from the favourite, Slide On. Kilnaglory scored a runaway win in the Dundrum Chase, and is the first of the recent arrivals from England to win. Foam Crest made amends for his Naas failure by winning the Stillorgan Hurdle, and Cockasnook the big field in the Dalkey Hurdle. The consistent Ins An Mala had an easy win in the Bray Handicap, and Knight Paladin made short work of the opposition in the Ranelagh Plate. Details:—

ULSTER JUNIOR AND JUVENILE ENTRIES

The Ulster junior and juvenile championships commence this evening at the Ulster Stadium, Peter's Hill, Belfast, and will be concluded on Wednesday night. Owing to the big entry, all the juvenile contests this evening will be held in the Windsor Club. The weights run from 4st. up to 9st. 7lb., but insufficient entries were received for the 10st. and upwards classes in the juveniles. The junior entry totals 76, and should provide excellent boxing.

CLOSELY CONTESTED HOCKEY MATCHES

Dublin University and Pembroke Wanderers maintained their positions in the effort to catch Portrane in the Senior League. Both the matches on Saturday were closely contested. Trinity were a goal down to Y.M.C.A. at Londonbridge road at the interval, C. Colter being the scorer. In the second half, however, the University did more of the attacking, and Strong equalised from a long corner. D. McGilligan then getting a neat deciding goal.

The game at Park avenue had an extraordinary finish. Goals by Webster and Martin, against one by K. Tanham, gave Wanderers an interval lead of 2-1. K. Tanham equalised for Railway in the second half, and the scores were level with only five minutes to play. Then McNulty put Wanderers in front again from a penalty corner. Jones immediately equalised, and with less than a minute to play Martin got the decider for Wanderers.

Results—Dublin University 2, Y.M.C.A. 1; Pembroke Wanderers 4, Railway Union 3.

WOMEN'S HOCKEY

Senior League — Optimists 1, Old College 1; Trinity 3, Shielmartin 1.

Munster Senior Cup final — Old Rochelle 2, Ashton 1.

Ingle Baaten.—Jimmy Ingle sustained his first defeat as a professional boxer when, at Belfast on Saturday, he was beaten on points by J. Armour.

FOUR YEAR PLAN

time release from industry, so that our young people may have the chance to carry on their education, general and specialised. I look forward to a Britain so big that she will need to draw her leaders from every type of school and wearing every kind of tie."

FORCES' NEST EGG

Mr. Churchill said that a nest egg, similar to that provided for taxpayers, would be given to the armed forces. "At the end of the war there will be seven or eight million people in the country with two or three hundred pounds each—a thing unknown in our history . . . It is the duty of the State to redeem those savings of the people in an equal degree of value. Over a period of ten or fifteen years there ought to be fair, steady, continuity of values, if there is to be any faith between man and man or the individual and the State." War-time taxation could not continue in days of peace, but we must expect that after the war it would be heavier than it was before the war.

ENTERPRISE

"A number of measures are being, and will be, prepared which will enable the Government to exercise a restraining influence upon development which can be turned on or off as circumstances require.

"There is a broadening field for State ownership and enterprise, especially in relation to monopolies of all kinds. But it is all the more vital to revive at the earliest moment a widespread, healthy, vigorous private enterprise, without which we shall never be able to provide in the years when it is needed employment for our soldiers, sailors and airmen to which they are entitled after their duty has been done.

"I am advised that, in view of the general state of the world after the defeat of Hitler, there will be considerable opportunities for re-establishing our exports."

Outlining some of the sources of trade, he mentioned radio, gas and electricity, civil aviation, building, forestry and railways.

In his closing words Mr. Churchill turned from the post-war world to present events, spoke of the decisive battle now pending in Tunisia and the daily struggle in Russia, and said: "Let us go back to our job."

Dublin Appointments Plan Opposed

Are the clerical and administrative staffs of the Dublin Corporation to be recruited in future from university graduates? And again: Is the door to be opened to a method of recruitment other than by open competitive examination?

The Irish Times understands that certain proposals for the regrading of the Dublin Corporation administrative and clerical staffs have been submitted by the City Manager for the sanction of the Minister for Local Government. One of the proposals is that there should be introduced into the Corporation service a new grade, to be known as the Junior Administrative Officer Grade, and to be confined to Honours University graduates. The members of the Corporation staffs are strongly opposed to the scheme, and have instructed the Irish Local Government Officials' Union to use every legitimate means at its disposal to defeat the proposals.

It was pointed out to an Irish Times reporter that the existing clerical staff of the Corporation is recruited in a high standard of open competitive examination, and that, in fact, there is quite a number of university graduates on the present staff. The recruitment of such a grade as that proposed from outside the service, a reporter was told, will have the effect of blocking the avenues of promotion which have existed in the past for the clerical staffs. Also, as it is proposed to select these new officers by interview, it is felt that it is opening the door to a method of recruitment other than by open competitive examination, the dangers of which are obvious.

Gaelic League at War With N.U.I.

The Gaelic League is at war with the governing authorities of the National University of Ireland, and threatens "in the preservation and maintenance of Ireland as a distinct nation to resist the governing authorities entire functioning in this country." The League has appointed a Council of Action, and has decided to issue a public appeal for a fighting fund of £5,000. In the course of a statement sent to the National University, the League charges that for over thirty years it has persisted in maintaining the University as an anti-Irish and anti-national institute, "contrary to the will of the people of Ireland, on whose moneys you subsist; and contrary to the wishes of a substantial majority of your own students."

Shot in Belfast Black-out

Belfast police are investigating a shooting which occurred on Saturday night, when Stephen J. Dobbin (23), of Stewart street, Belfast, received a bullet wound in the side. Dobbin had an encounter with four men near his home and a shot was fired. He was taken to hospital for treatment.

Skerries as a Holiday Resort

An attempt is being made in Skerries, Co. Dublin, to create a central body to co-ordinate the activities of the twenty clubs and organisations in the town. The object of the move is to enhance the attractions of Skerries as an important holiday place.

MORE IRISH WANTED

The City of Dublin Vocational Education Committee desires a higher standard in Irish for candidates for positions as whole-time vocational teachers. A resolution adopted by the Committee on the motion of Councillor M. O Maolain, declares that "a number of the candidates, though holding the Ceard Teastas, were unable to carry on a sustained conversation in Irish when interviewed," and requests the Department of Education to revise the standard required for the award of this certificate to ensure that holders of it "will be competent to converse in Irish with reasonable fluency."

LEINSTER SOCIETY OF ORGANISTS

Leinster Society of Organists, which met at the Royal Irish Academy of Music, Dublin, on Saturday night, was treated to a delightful concert, organised by Miss Una Kenny. There was excellent singing by Maura Griffith, Denis Cox, and Mamie Dingle-O'Reilly. Miss Kenny showed herself an accomplished artiste in organ solos, a pianoforte duet with James Murphy, and by playing the violin part in the First Movement of the Greutzer Sonata, with Dr. Annie Keelan at the piano. Dr. Keelan also played the Brahms Rhapsodie in D minor.

Industrials Rise Sharply Yields Still Attractive

BUSINESS on the Dublin Stock Exchange during the greater part of the week was on a fairly good scale, and the tone in most departments was firm. Public interest was mostly confined to Irish Industrials.

There was a steady demand for good-class equities, and a number of good features developed. This class of share has had a good rise in recent months, but in a number of cases the yields offering are still quite attractive.

Despite the many difficulties which have been brought about by the war, these companies have managed to do well.

Although the outlook is uncertain regarding supplies, it is thought that the present period of emergency has been a blessing in disguise; for it has given most of them a chance of getting firmly established. Another point is that native resources have been used with a fair measure of success, and that this will help considerably when normal times return.

Sunbeam Wolsey Ordinary shares, on the optimistic letter recently sent to shareholders, went quickly ahead to 53/-, and even at this enhanced level they look worth attention. The company is well managed and in a sound financial position. For several years past the Ordinary dividend has been 12½ per cent. The outlook for this concern is bright.

T. and C. Martin Ordinary also claimed attention and advanced to 46/-. This old-established concern has a good record, and on the basis of last year's dividend of 12½ per cent. they still are worth attention; for they give a return of £5 8s. 8d. per cent.

Interest is now being taken in Drapery issues, and the recent dividends and reports have been up to best expectations. The chief difficulty is the replenishing of stocks. The immediate future appears bright, but the post-war period may not be so good when we get intense competition again, bringing with it a keen cutting in prices.

Under the Restrictions on Companies Order certain companies are unable to pay dividends of more than 6 per cent., although they may be in a position to do so. A correspondent sends me an interesting letter, in which he puts forward the view that, as wages are being increased by bonus awards, the people who have invested their savings in Irish industry should be entitled to a higher return. With the increased cost of living, he suggests that the dividend limitation should be raised to 7½ per cent. No doubt many small shareholders will welcome this suggestion, and perhaps some of our leading financial bodies will give it their consideration, and recommend to the Minister for Finance some modification in the coming Budget.

Trading in Home Rails continues slight, and the investing public, as far as this section is concerned, is adopting a wait-and-see attitude. Nobody seems prepared to make any forecast as to what the terms of the first Southern capital reorganisation will be, and the general feeling is that the company is treating its stockholders very badly.

Each day stockbrokers are being asked the same question by unfortunate investors, but they can give them no advice. Mr. Reynolds's statement does not seem to have removed a big lump in Consuls profits will be experienced and stockholders will get a bigger dividend.

Dull Tone in London Markets

THE London Stock Markets were disappointing last week because the end of the big savings drive produced no appreciable increase of business. The circumstances must be attributed to the character of recent war news, and for the same reason the tone has been generally dull.

Of some influence is the approaching Budget, for it is feared that there may be some increase of taxation. The fear may prove to be groundless, the Chancellor of the Exchequer relying upon the increasing productiveness of the present burdens. For example, people are smoking more now that ever before—a remarkable circumstance, having regard to the increase in the price.

In the case if whiskey, the possibility of a misuse in 1945 is mentioned, if consumption continues at the present rate, and manufacturers are not allowed to increase the available supplies.

Although markets of late have been dull prices have given way very little.

Industrial shares tend to rise rather than fall, despite the substantial recovery which has taken place in recent months. The upward movement is more remarkable, because there is little prospect of an increase in dividends, while it is considered necessary for the Government to take the whole of any excess profits over a certain figure. With the rise in values, the yields to new buyers from the last annual dividend are quite moderate.

To take what is admittedly an extreme case, Courtaulds £1 units rose last week to about 2½, which means a return of about £3 per cent. from the p.c. dividend lately declared. The financial position of this company is exceptional; for the total assets behind nominal ordinary £600,000 over £40.000,000 represents Gilt-edged stocks.

The high price of Courtaulds, while partly due to the strength of the financial position, which would seem to justify some plums to stockholders in the future. The demand for the company's products is very keen," although the entire output is now being directed by the Government into essential war requirements. It is quite a reasonable expectation, therefore, that when the restrictions upon trading due to the war are removed a big jump in Courtaulds profits will be experienced and stockholders will get a bigger dividend.

WEST END STORES

London Hotels are doing better, despite restrictions, and among West End stores, Debenham & Freebody increased its annual profit from £15.805 to £26.928, an expansion equal to 70 p.c. It was possible, therefore, to raise the Ord. dividend from 2½ p.c. to 5 p.c.

Judging from this result improved figures should be announced by John Barker, Harrods, Debenhams, Maple and similar companies, but whether shares of these concerns are cheap at current prices is a difficult question. It is certain that quotations will be carried to a level scarcely justified by the extent of any increase in future dividends.

The 4 Ord. shares of Baldwins, Ltd., the important coal, iron and steel combination, at 6.1½ offer a yield of just over 6½ p.c. on the basis of the 10 p.c. dividends declared for each of the past seven years. The full accounts for 1942 show that profits, after tax, amounted to £330,938, against £365,645. Liquid assets total £3,888,843, against current liabilities amounting to £1,976,764. The Chairman says that during the year all the works and collieries of the company have been fully employed so far as labour has been available. The company has increased its tonnage and range of steel alloys.

Among the smaller Brewery companies, Plymouth Breweries, Ltd., yields a high return. For the ninth year in succession, it is paying a final dividend of 12½ p.c., making 18 p.c. for the year. The 5 p.c. Participating Pref. Shares of £10 each received 8 p.c. for the year. The Ordinary capital is in £3 units, valued at 8/6.

British Ropes which recently announced the maintenance of its dividend at 12½ p.c., has now issued its accounts showing that profits totalled £389,510 (against £356,608). From this taxation absorbs £225,000 (against £200,628 last year).

The Southern Protestants

Once upon a time Irish oratory was noted for its colour, its elaborate periods, and its fine turning of a phrase. Nevertheless, the orator said unmistakably what he meant to say; there was no lack of clarity about him. Nowadays, a simpler, cruder, blunter form of oratory is in vogue; yet, paradoxically, clarity seems to have disappeared along with the graces of the past. Last Friday night Mr. Ernest Blythe presented a public meeting with his views on the subject of the Protestants of the twenty-six counties. They were not flattering views. The Southern Protestants, "who made money out of the Catholic population, and who opposed everything that was dearest to their Catholic neighbours, had adopted a contemptible attitude." Although they had been treated generously—"in some ways over-generously"—only a minority of them accepted the nationalist position. Bigotry was "a purely Protestant vice." All these accusations sound very forthright and factual, but what do they mean? What is the evidence of this Protestant "bigotry," of this Protestant refusal to "accept the nationalist position," of this Protestant aversion from everything that is held dear by the Irish Catholic? What, for that matter, is the basis of Mr. Blythe's assertion that the Protestants have been treated "in some ways over-generously?" We agree—as we have said a hundred times—that they have been treated well, that they have not been penalised for the sake of their religion. In other words, they have received the treatment that would be accorded to them in any State that truly professed itself democratic and civilised. Does Mr. Blythe imply that the Protestants would have got no more than they deserved if the State, or their Catholic neighbours, had initiated "pogroms" against them? If so, we think little of his conception of nationality.

Mr. Blythe would do well to define his terms. What does he mean by acceptance of the "nationalist position," and why does he suggest that the bulk of Protestants, any more than the bulk of Catholics, refuses to accept it? The "nationalist position" is, or ought to be, enshrined in, and defined by, the existing Constitution. That Constitution has been accepted loyally by the Protestants of the twenty-six counties. There are features of it that individual Protestants may dislike: there is, for instance, the prohibition of divorce; but there must be features of it which many Catholics dislike, or more than half a million votes would not have been cast against it in the plebiscite of 1937. The Protestants, we repeat, have accepted the Constitution—some with alacrity, some with simple loyalty, some with reluctance—and therein they show no difference from their Catholic neighbours. Mr. Blythe might have argued, indeed, that many of them still look further afield than Ireland for their livelihood; yet it would be interesting to learn precisely how large a proportion of the émigrés of the last few years has been Protestant. If he pleads that the Protestants have shown no great enthusiasm for the Gaelic language, is it a worse sin to resist it openly than to accept the language as a necessary evil and to forget about it at the first possible moment—which is the really widespread attitude? His whole case is strangely nebulous. Does he imply that the Protestant farmer declines to "pull his weight" in the present emergency, that the Protestant manufacturer or shopkeeper gives bad value, that the Protestant soldier is inefficient or lazy, that the subversive organisations are staffed mainly by Protestants? Perhaps, the ground of his complaint is that the Southern Protestants have not done sufficient for the removal of the border. Most of them resent the border as strongly as ever it was resented by Mr. Blythe; but it is hard to see how they can effect what he, with the initial advantage of a Northern Protestant upbringing, failed to do as a Minister of the Irish Free State for the best part of ten years. Can Mr. Blythe offer some practical suggestions to the Protestants of the twenty-six counties?

An American "Plan"

A week ago President Roosevelt submitted to Congress a document which, inevitably but inaccurately, has been dubbed the American "Beveridge plan." Its genesis was unpopular; for it had been prepared by the National Resources Planning Board, which recently had been denied by Congress the funds necessary to its continuation. The plan covered wider ground than Sir William Beveridge's. In the first place, over and above any question of social security, it submitted a means whereby the dangerous transition from a war-time to a peace-time economy might be effected at the close of hostilities. This part has created neither enthusiasm nor resentment. In the second place, it differed from the Beveridge scheme, inasmuch as it asserted the Government's duty to guarantee every citizen the right to work, as well as the right to a sufficient income if work should be unobtainable. Sir William Beveridge based his plan on the assumption that there always would be a "hard core" of unemployment in Great Britain, about which the State could do nothing; President Roosevelt refuses to accept that premiss. The American proposals have had, as it appears, a poor reception—it may be more precise to say, a poor Press. Most of the American newspapers are dominated by business men, and the business men, far more conservative than their British counterparts, are shy of a change in the social system which, as they believe, outrages the whole tradition of the United States. "Paternalism" is a new feature in American life. Until President Roosevelt came into office just over ten years ago there were virtually no social services, and even the trade unions were organised in such a fashion that they were all but powerless against the great industrial combines—which, with rare exceptions, took no particular interest in the welfare of their workers. Conditions are better nowadays, thanks to the "new deal"; yet even President Roosevelt has not dared to "socialise." American industry to the extent of British—or, for that matter, of Irish—industry. This—the breach with national business tradition—is the main ground on which his new proposals are challenged; but there are others. Even those newspapers which generally support him allege that he has neglected to count the enormous cost of a social service scheme of such magnitude. Others detect a want of precision in his plan, and contrast its bare outline with the detail of Sir William Beveridge's draft. Others, again, dismiss it with a sneer, as being merely his "platform for a fourth term." Finally, there are those who plead that the United States ought to be devoting herself to the war effort, without wasting time and thought on what will happen after the war. That argument, at least, will carry little weight. President Roosevelt, like other statesmen, remembers the chaos that followed the last war as the result of a lack of a clear programme in America and elsewhere, and he is determined that similar chaos shall not recur. Whether he will contrive to dispose of the other criticisms of his plan remains to be seen. Strong forces are being mobilised against him. Nevertheless, he himself is a strong man.

Election Fever

Elections in the last century were a serious business. A contemporary newspaper has quoted from the Freeman's Journal of the year 1843 an advertisement for letting a house formerly in the possession of a certain Miss Kelly, who "died in consequence of Major Cast losing his election." Even the excesses of the Eatanswill partisans pale into insignificance beside this exhibition of chagrin. The age, of course, was one in which the untimely end was distinctly fashionable. One thinks not so much of the violent demise of the unfortunate Miss Kelly as of the decline which terminated the days of so many more restrained young ladies. Had there been anything in the nature of an affectionate relationship, then, between Miss Kelly and the gallant major, her rapid decease would not be deemed surprising. Indeed, her only alternative would have been to bend over his recumbent form, as the election results were announced, and stroke his fevered brow once or twice before going into the customary swoon. The report, however, gives no inkling of any such sentimental background to this period tragedy. Apparently, Miss Kelly was prompted to her decision to shuffle off this mortal coil as fast as possible simply by a wave of honest party feeling. The major, one cannot doubt, was the representative of all the best people: he stood for the maintenance of landowners' rights and a strong line in regard to Chinese labour. Unquestionably, he was defeated in the elections by an advocate of reform; and Miss Kelly anticipated, in the only way possible for a lady, the release of anarchy upon an unsuspecting land. Perhaps it is a pity that our own elections, whenever they arrive, will be contested with no such passionate conviction. We will wait long to see a lady of Ireland expiring out of hand "in consequence of Major Cast losing his election."

LADY MAFFEY will be among the speakers at the annual general meeting of the Incorporated Orthopædic Hospital of Ireland, being held in the Hospital on Wednesday next.

Sir James and Lady Nelson spent the week-end in Dublin.

Mrs. John Alexander has arrived in Dublin from Adare, Co. Limerick.

Commander and Mrs. Peter Fitzgerald have arrived in Dublin from Adare, Co. Limerick, and are staying at the Shelbourne Hotel.

Major and Mrs. Bucknall, who were staying in Dublin last week, have returned to Doneraile, Co. Cork.

The Hon. Mrs. Bruce Ogilvy has left Dublin to visit friends at Mitchelstown, Co. Cork.

Captain John Alexander has returned to Carlow from England.

Mr. Rory More O'Ferrall has returned to Kildangan from England.

The engagement is announced, and the marriage will take place early in June, between Frederick Furnell Morrow, youngest son of Captain and Mrs. A. Morrow, 22 Churchtown road, Rathgar, and Marjorie Crowley, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Crowley, Elmville, Oakley road, Ranelagh.

A marriage has been arranged, and will take place very shortly in England, between Sub-Lieuteuant Michael Longford Beresford-Jones, R.N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Beresford-Jones, St. Martin's, Canterbury, and Elizabeth Purefoy, younger daughter of Canon and Mrs. Chamberlain, the Mariners' Church Rectory, Dun Laoghaire.

An engagement is announced between Maurice J. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Robinson, of Treen, Earley, Reading, and Brigid, only daughter of Lord and Lady Glenavy, Rockbrook House, Rathfarnham, Co. Dublin. The marriage will take place quietly in London in April.

Switzers have received a further collection of lovely Hats in gay and pastel colourings, including Model Hats for Afternoon and Party wear, as well as many Sports Models. A most attractive collection of useful Tams is also being shown.

Richard Alan, at 58 Grafton street, are showing an entire spring range of "County Wear" classics, in Mohair, Alpaca and brilliantly woven Tweeds. Wear any of these distinguished coats with an assortment of accessories, and you will find them equally adaptable for work and leisure hours.

From the London Couturiers at Miss Doran's Salons, Dawson street, will be shown a further beautiful collection of Jacket Suits with matching millinery, Wool Afternoon and Dinner Frocks, Tweeds, Fur Boleros, Sabls Ties, Coats, etc. etc.

Margaret Watson is showing a new collection of Tailored Suits, Ensembles in Wool and Silk, Wool Frocks in pastel shades.—17a Dawson street.

T.C.D. NOTES

BY OUR CORRESPONDENT.

TO-DAY Hilary Term comes to an end, and now that the most tardy examinations and courses of lectures have been terminated, the evacuation of College will be completed within the next few days, save for the small, but faithful, band of permanent dwellers-in and a number of candidates for the Scholarship Examinations, which commence on the 19th of April.

S.R.C.

The Students' Representative Society has been officially recognised by the Board, and consists of representatives of College Societies and Clubs, each Society or Club sending forward one representative for every forty members. Hitherto the S.R.C. has been active in agitating for various reforms, though nothing startling has yet been achieved. The Board was asked to consider the erection of bicycle-stands to relieve the present congestion in many College doorways; but no action had been taken, chiefly owing to scarcity of materials. The S.R.C. suggested that a committee, drawn from both staff and students, should be set up to consider possible changes in the College Library; and, though this was not done, the Librarian has agreed to interview members of the S.R.C. Last term the Council submitted to the Board a detailed scheme of bathrationing. This was found impracticable, but a modified system of rationing has been instituted. Some weeks ago a letter from one of the "skips" appeared in T.C.D., suggesting that "skips" should not be compelled to remain in College until 12 o'clock on Sunday. There seems to be little opposition among resident students to the alteration of the rule, though it is felt that it ought to be assured that on week-days "skips" will not leave College until they have finished their work.

COMMERCE SOCIETY

At a debate held last Monday in the Council Chamber of the National University, the subject, "That this House deplores the Beveridge Report," was proposed by the U.C.D. Commerce Society. It was opposed by Messrs. Black, Booth, Cross and Darbyshire, of Trinity. After lively discussion the motion was rejected by a large majority. The D.U. Rugby XV. advanced to the second round of the Senior Cup by a decisive victory over Curragh Command at Lansdowne road last Wednesday. The team gave an excellent all-round display, and Marshall's speedy and determined running on the Trinity left wing was a feature of the game.

FILM NOTES

BY OUR CINEMA CORRESPONDENT.

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde (Adelphi).—When Victor Fleming directed "Gone With the Wind" and "Tortilla Flat," he showed himself possessor of the power to keep the original book intact while, at the same time, creating a fresh screen story. These triumphs of his find a worthy successor in this brilliant translation to the screen of Robert Louis Stevenson's classic tale of a young scientist's trespass into the realm of forbidden research. In the part of Dr. Jekyll, that sincere and restrained actor, Spencer Tracy, finds the strongest rôle he has ever essayed, and his playing of it must remain the most memorable thing he has ever done. He gives a notable portrayal of the young doctor, who, in his efforts to separate and control the dual good and evil in human nature, brings about his own destruction. The sequence in which Tracy's face changes before the camera from that of the good young doctor to that of the evil Hyde will inspire more genuine terror than all the artificial horror pictures that ever came out of Hollywood. The supporting acting is of the same high standard. Ingrid Bergman performs magnificently in her first "bad girl" part of Ivy Peterson, Lana Turner as Jekyll's fiancée and Donald Crisp as her father are also excellent, while the small part of the butler, Poole, is well acted by Peter Godfrey. Although not, perhaps, for children or over impressionable adults, this is an outstanding picture, which should not be missed.

Pierre of the Plains (Theatre Royal).—John Carroll, always good, is Pierre, a good-natured French-Canadian trapper, and hero of this pleasant little comedy-drama of the Canadian backwoods. It is not really an exciting picture, but there is much romance and some magnificent scenery, superbly photographed.

Timber (Carlton), in support, is far better than the feature and brings you S.A.B.O'Tage, this time in a lumber camp. Dan Dailey, jnr., Leo Carillo and wheezy Andy Devine are good as a tough trio and there are some genuinely thrilling moments. The unoriginal "She's my Lovely" makes me wish once more that they would put charming Gloria Jean
